

THIEVES ABANDON BAND OF HORSES

Rustlers Give Up Their Booty and Flee the Country.

Rangers on Trail of Men for Fifteen Days.

Miss Robbers, But Get the Stock They Were Driving.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22.—Ranger Jesse Rollins has returned to Douglas from a trip into northern Arizona, where he was to follow up a band of horse thieves which was known to be operating in Coconino county. Mr. Rollins was accompanied by Ranger Tip Stanford, and they were fifteen days constantly in the saddle.

From Douglas they went direct to Flagstaff and learned that the band of horse thieves was operating in what is known as the Bull basin, northwest of that city. The rustlers lost no time in heading for that section, and soon struck the broad trail of no less than 150 head of horses.

Eight in the Gang.
In the gang which was carrying these horses out of the county were supposed to be seven or eight men, judging by the tracks around the camps which they made. The trail was followed for six days, when the band of horses was overtaken, having been abandoned by those who had rounded them up on the Coconino county range. After the horses were overtaken the rustlers continued on the trail of the thieves for two days, but were unable to overtake them.

Pursuers' Hard Trip.
Speaking about the trip, Ranger Rollins stated that it was one of the hardest he had ever made since he joined the service. He was fifteen days on the trip and for several days but little sleep was obtained, owing to the anxiety to overtake the band of rustlers.

The horses were returned to the range from which they had been taken, and Ranger Rollins returned home. He says that had the horses not been recovered they would have been taken to Utah and there sold, and that it is no uncommon thing for thieves to gather up stock in northern Arizona and take it to that State for disposal.

M'GAVIN RECOUNT GIVES HIM LEAD

CHARLES M'GAVIN,
Defeats His Opponent for Congress by
Sixty-five Plurality in Recount.

Chicago Congressman Once
Thought Himself Surely Beaten.

Charles McGavin, of Chicago, is the one happiest member of Congress today. There has been an official recount of the votes cast in his district last November, and last night McGavin was notified of his election by 65 plurality.

On election night, or rather the morning after, McGavin went to bed convinced that he was beaten. Two days later, still sad, he picked up a paper and saw that the result was in doubt and that he led slightly.

Now, the official figures make sure of his residence in Washington two years longer and possibly at increased pay.

He celebrated his thirty-third birthday on January 19, is a bachelor, a lawyer, and lives at the Dewey.

LABOR UNION LECTURE
GIVEN BY BOLTON HALL
"The Education of Children" was the subject of a lecture of the Georgian Lecture and Entertainment Course under the auspices of the Central Labor Union, which was delivered by Bolton Hall, son of the Rev. John Hall, of New York, at Carroll Institute Hall last night.

Preceding Mr. Hall's lecture, the Hardy Dramatic Company presented a one-act playlet entitled "One Touch of Nature." Theodore Hardy was assisted by Edward O'Brien, and his daughter, Miss Ramona Hardy, in the entertainment, and an excellent act was given.

"How to be Happy," will be the next lecture of the series. It will be given by Lee Francis Lybarger on Tuesday, February 5.

ENGINEERS' SOCIETY SMOKER.
An informal smoker last night was the first of a series of receptions planned by the Engineers' Society of Washington to be given in their rooms at 725 Fifteenth street northwest. Among the prominent men present were: C. E. Gunsey, F. H. Newell, L. E. Sinclair, D. S. Carl, J. H. Hanna, W. A. McFarland, and D. E. McComb.

DECLARES POISON PLACED IN WELL TO KILL FAMILY

Colored Family Made Ill Following Threat of Neighbor After a Quarrel—Alleged to Have Been Seen Tampering With Well.

According to a statement made yesterday by Charles Warner, an aged colored man, living at Colesville, Montgomery county, Md., an effort was made recently to poison him and the eight members of his family. Warner called at Police headquarters yesterday with a sample of water taken from a spring, into which the negro said a quantity of poison had been poured with the intention of exterminating his entire family.

About two weeks before Christmas Warner had some trouble with one of the neighbors, who, he says, made the following threat:

"I'll get you for this before three months' time."

Shortly afterward, Warner's sixteen-year-old son saw the neighbor approach the spring, and pour something into it from a bottle. In less than a week the entire family of nine was down in bed. Not suspecting that an effort would be made to poison the drinking water, the family continued to use the spring until death threatened all of the members of the household, and it was necessary to call a physician.

He, it is said, expressed the opinion that they had been poisoned, and advised Warner to bring a sample of the water to the Washington police. As the fact is out of the jurisdiction of the local authorities, the police could take no action in the matter. The colored man was advised to state the facts to the county sheriff.

Warner says that shortly before the holidays his hog died. The animal was fat and apparently in good health. It was found dead a short distance from the spring and the carcass dragged into the woods. A few days later Warner went into the woods and found several birds that had evidently been making a meal off the flesh, lying dead on the ground.

Another reason why Warner believes that he was poisoned from the spring is the fact that the negro who was seen to pour something into the water, took occasion to go to other families living close by and advised them not to drink the water.

Besides himself and wife there are five children and two grandchildren, all of whom were stricken with the same ailment.

MAN AND WIFE FOUND
DEAD IN BEDROOM
KAUKANUNA, Wis., Jan. 22.—A double murder is suspected in connection with the finding of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. John Lehmann, at their residence near here.

Mrs. Lehmann's body was found under a bed, and was covered with two mattresses and with bed clothing. The body of her husband was seated upright on the bed. The Lehmanns lived alone. They were reputed wealthy.

In the pockets of Mr. Lehmann were found securities and money amounting to $3,000.

FIREMEN ARE OVERCOME
IN TOY FACTORY FIRE
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Thirteen firemen, including Battalion Chief Stone and Captain Livingston, were overcome by smoke at a fire in the basement of a four-story toy factory on West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street last night.

Two of the firemen were caught in a back draught and would have been suffocated but for the assistance of two of their comrades. The rescuers themselves fell unconscious as they reached the open with the senseless forms of their fellow-firemen in their arms.

POLICEMAN'S BRIDE CATCHES BURGLAR

Wallops and Wrestles With Man Who Tried to Do Her Up.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Emma Bessant, the pretty and athletic bride of a patrolman of the Tenderloin station, living at 543 First avenue, caught a burglar last night. Mrs. Bessant is a manicurist and hairdresser. At night she attends to the heads of some of the singers in the Metropolitan Opera House. Last night about 10 o'clock she returned home and saw a man in the bathroom.

The man said he was looking for a family upstairs. When she went into her room, Mrs. Bessant climbed up on a chair and peeped through a transom. She heard a door in the rooms above give way, and went out. The fellow had entered the room of a Mr. Kellock. Mrs. Bessant ran up and tackled the fellow, who struck her. She hit back. She swung to him like a cat-in-a-hat-can wrestler and held him until Mr. Kellock arrived and took him in charge.

SUES THE CHURCH FOR HER SALARY

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 22.—Boston Sunday school circles were amazed today by the news that one of the best known workers, Miss Elizabeth Bigney, who teaches in the Chinese Sunday school here, is suing the Broomfield Methodist Church for salary. It concerns the largest Chinese Sunday school in the United States after one in New York, and it brings into a court room for the first time a record of the question of "so-much-per" for a Sunday school worker.

Miss Bigney declares that for instructing the Chinese in Sunday school and three afternoons a week, and doing settlement work among them, the church owes her $50 a year.

DR. FLOWER EXTRADITED
ON REQUEST OF HUGHES
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—Governor Stuart has granted the requisition of Governor Hughes for the extradition of Dr. R. C. Flower, under arrest in Philadelphia to answer the charge of swindling in New York.

The requisition was made to Governor Pennypacker four weeks ago, and after two hearings on a protest against Flower's extradition the governor referred it to his successor.

Bobbinet curtains at $1.98 pair

A THURSDAY ONLY BARGAIN. Bobbinet curtains are very popular as draperies for the dining room or bedrooms. Looking over our stock we discovered 15 pairs of white Bobbinet curtains, not quite three yards long—and decided to put these in with clearance lots.

They are trimmed in torchon, Medici, or Cluny laces, and worth up to $4.50 a pair.

Think of buying French imported bobbinet curtains at $1.98 a pair. Astounding isn't it—come and see. 3rd floor—S. Kann, Sons & Co.

25c and 39c Trimmings at 19c yd.

You'll not be able to resist buying these pretty trimmings after once seeing them—especially at the low price asked for Thursday—19c a yard.

Many kinds of trimmings, such as vestings, bands, one-sided effects, appliques, gimpes and other kinds, in all the new fall colors, and in pretty combinations.

If you're used for trimmings of any kind, do see this lot tomorrow. 1st floor—Trimming Section.

"Seconds" of 50c Swiss ribbed vests at 25c

This bare announcement will cause hundreds of women to flock here tomorrow. Each year the factory saves its output of "seconds" for us—and these are eagerly sought for by Washington women.

The imperfections are very slight. These Swiss Ribbed Vests are bleached, low neck, no sleeves and are of Egyptian lisle, some mercerized. All have hand crocheted necks and silk tapes.

They go on sale tomorrow—first floor bargain tables at each, 25c. 1st floor—S. Kann, Sons & Co.

$1.25 wrappers at 59c

We've not many—so HURRY. These are Flannelette Wrappers, nicely made and perfect fitting, in sizes 34 and 36 only.

If you are late Thursday you risk disappointment. 2nd floor—S. Kann, Sons & Co.
